

Bdice

Brandon Cruz Bebe better known by his stage name "Bdice" is a 2x WCMA Award-Nominated Recording-Artist / Producer, Music Video Director and Cinematographer from Vancouver. After recording a song and video everyday for 365 days his "Daily 16" movement built the foundation to his brand and work ethic. Recently his collaborations have been featured in Academy Award-Winning Director Jordan Peele's Debut TV Series "Weird City" while his upcoming album "Aesthetic" is slated for a summer release.

Bdice has played Music Festivals such as Live Nations "Center Of Gravity" and opened for Mainstream names such as A$AP Rocky, Mac Miller, MGK as well as toured with Bad Boy Records very own King Los. Bdice is the sole proprietor of his personal business specializing in Visual Media, Studio Recordings & Artist Development.

His early life was spent learning alongside his separated parents. Born to a teenage single mother and Filipino immigrant father, both instilled values of innovation and work-ethic into his character.

Having independence and strong principles carried him through transitions as a child. His frequent relocations developed into admirable social skills and resulted in a goal-oriented mindset set to succeed.

Today, Bdice resides in Vancouver BC as a respected influencer in the West Coast music scene. His aspiration to increase the quality of life for the people around him has resulted in collaborative work with artists who are paving the way in Canadian Hip Hop culture. While his newest project "Outlandish" is still making waves his sights are fixated on the release of his newest project "Aesthetic"
